Be a Part of AgriWellness!

There are changes coming to AgriWellness! Last fall the AgriWellness Board of Directors dedicated AgriWellness to serving as the leading national voice for individuals and organizations that care for the behavioral health of farm people. This is an exciting step for AgriWellness as we expand our vision to a national focus from a primarily regionally-based focus.

AgriWellness and our partners offer the expertise, experience and resources acquired through the eleven years of the Sowing the Seeds of Hope (SSoH) program to the rest of the nation.

One part of our new goal is for AgriWellness to become a membership-based organization. The board of directors has approved a number of membership opportunities for individuals and organizations who are interested in joining and learning more agricultural behavioral health. Here is some information. There is more available at www.agriwellness.org
